

Det. Melissa Turnage: What's going on, Taylor? Because you understand, if your dad goes to jail, he doesn't come back at all.

Okay? That accusation you're making, since you are 12 years old, and this has been going on since you were nine, he goes to jail. He doesn't come back at all. So that means you, your brother, and your mom don't have him at all.

If you're mad because you got your phone taken away, let's say that now and be done with it.

Because I have three stories that say you like to be with your dad, you're daddy's little girl, you love to go with him because you like to get out of the house.

//

But if it's not the truth, you're fixing to hurt a lot of people – a lot of people.

Your mom's not gonna have her car. Your dad's car is gonna get taken. Your dad's not gonna be able- the lawn business is gone. Your mom's gonna have to deal with you and your brother going to school. School starts in two weeks in Polk County—three. You're not gonna be able to have your shoes that you want for school.

What are those? The Roshe- Roshe Nike shoes? You're not gonna be able to get braces. I hear you want braces or need braces. What is it Taylor?

I mean, we had to deal with your poor mom crying out there 'cause we had to tell her that you're saying that your dad's been having sex with you since you were nine.

That broke her heart. It would break her heart even more if it's not true.
